DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

3. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dragoo et al. USPN 6229061 in view of Zacharias et al. WO 9915123 and further in view of Noel et al. USPN 5304161. Dragoo describes an insert 100 used with an absorbent article 20 having a fluid pervious topsheet 102, absorbent 106, and a fluid pervious backsheet 104, which Dragoo teaches can comprise an apertured material (col. 11, lines 1-21). Dragoo does not disclose an adhesive body-facing surface.

Zacharias discloses a napkin with an adhesive body-facing surface for the benefit of allowing the napkin to associate with the movement of the wearer (Abstract, page 1, lines 31-37; page 2, lines 15-22). One having ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to modify the insert of Dragoo with a body-facing adhesive for the benefits taught in Zacharias. Dragoo/Zacharias does not disclose an acquisition layer or distribution layer. Noel discloses an absorbent article having separate storage, acquisition, and distribution layers. Noel teaches the advantage of such a structure is to provide an absorbent article, which is especially efficient in acquiring, distributing, and storing exudates as they are deposited on the absorbent article. The multi-layered system allows exudates to be continuously acquired and distributed to storage layers by layers that are not subject to the gel blocking (Noel col. 3, lines 1-13). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the insert of Dragoo/Zacharias with separate acquisition and distribution layers for the benefits taught in Noel.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 6-11 are allowed. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The overall claimed combination of a body exudates management device capable of covering the genitalia of a wearer and having a body facing surface attachment means and having fluid pervious body facing and opposite surfaces in combination with a bag with an aperture, the bag also having an adhesive attachment surface capable of being attached to a perianal area of a user; and the combination of the device and bag used with an absorbent is neither anticipated nor rendered obvious by the prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
